LIFE

As Mr. Foley looks toward the future and a new high school, the daily activities at Beverly High School flow on with the enthusiastic response of the student body. Life at B.H.S. is not merely a day-in-day-out routine; instead, the beginning of each day brings varied experiences. Each morning, the office accommodates students requesting absence passes, while on the second floor, a flux of seniors converges on the library for thesis material. Also familiar in student life are assemblies, ranging from pep rallies to the Aegis assembly. Students in classrooms are intent on a teacher's words, or industriously studying. Student life, however, is not abruptly halted with the close of day; there is homework to do and sports events to attend. Friendship, sportsmanship, learning—each is an integral component of the rich student life at Beverly High School.

Foreword

Pencils, textbooks, report cards, basketballs, footballs, track shoes, gavels, make-up, yearbooks . . . these tangible symbols of Beverly High School are familiar to every student. The pencils, textbooks, and report cards represent the most important phase of our three years, our academic strivings. As underclassmen and seniors we have been challenged by serious study. Basketballs, footballs, and track shoes symbolize the competitive spirit at B.H.S. The Student Council gavel, the yearbook, the dramatic club make-up—these, a part of the many activities, remind us of our extracurricular work.

How many of the products of these symbols will remain with us? Pencils, textbooks, and report cards may change form, but life will always place tools in our hands and judgments on our effort. Perhaps, also, our athletic experiences will encourage us to "play fair" in a world which throws out penalties as heartlessly as any referee, yet which scores high for every goal achieved. Then, our constructive activities in school, concerning us with such as the gavel, the yearbook, and the make-up, will hopefully represent that which we shall contribute to the world we are about to enter. In this Beverlega we have recorded the tangible symbols of our years at Beverly High School.

AN EXPERIENCED PAST

ADMINISTRATION

At Beverly High School, the administration department is headed by Mr. William J. Foley, our principal. Indispensable aid was provided by Mr. Harland Carter, disciplinary officer; Miss Susan Allison, Miss Nancy Cyr, and Mrs. Louise Dube, office workers; Mrs. Edith Carr, school nurse; and Miss Dorothy McClure, cafeteria manager. Office aides, who collected attendance slips at the beginning of each class period, also provided valuable assistance. During the past year, additions to the administration department included three housemasters, who prepared for moving to the new high school building.

ENGLISH

English is the study of communications, written and oral, and an introduction to the humanities. The English Department of Beverly High School, directed by Mr. Edward Watts, offered speech, grammar, literature, and composition to students in college preparatory, general, or business courses. The objectives of the English Department were to provide an introduction to good literature and to develop an ability for oral and written communication in students. Members of the department also supervised the school's three publications. The literary magazine, Aegis, was directed by Mr. Edward Watts and Mrs. Helena Corbett for the first half of the year and for the second half year by Frances Trowt. The yearbook, Beverlega, was supervised by Miss Isabel Harriman, and the B.H.S. News was edited by Mr. Emery Hollerer. The Dramatic Club was supervised by Miss Catherine Hanf.

WE LEARN THROUGH EXPERIENCE

HISTORY

The rich history of the United States and the heritage of the world were brought to B.H.S. students during the past year by the history department, headed by Mr. John Page. Courses in modern history, problems of democracy and American history were offered to all with the hope of increasing student comprehension of the complex, surrounding world. With the aid of new books and an increased usage of films, especially in the study of modern history, the dual goals of student understanding and appreciation were achieved.

Note-taking by Mr. Page's senior history students often results in "writers-cramp."

HOME ECONOMICS

Instruction in homemaking was the purpose of the home economics department. For the girls who wished to study this art, the school offered a variety of practical courses. Under the direction of Miss Ruth Cluff and Miss Millicent Boswell, these courses offered instruction in cooking, sewing, and home and family living. The subjects may have been taken as a complete home economics course or individually as electives.

As these sewing students have learned, preparing the patterns is an important step in making clothes.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Under the supervision of Miss Anne Farley and Mr. George Taylor, the Physical Education Department at Beverly High School emphasized physical fitness. National physical fitness tests, given in conjunction with the President's Physical Fitness Program, showed certain phases in which Beverly area students needed exercise. The department then concentrated on these phases to completely fulfill the requirements of the tests. Class activities such as sports, gymnastics, and dancing for the girls were supplemented by the Girls' Intramural Club, and interscholastic sports such as boys' and girls' basketball, football, hockey, cross country, and indoor and outdoor track.

BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The main purposes of the Business Department are to develop marketable skills which will enable students to earn a living, and to provide them with a background in general business understanding and concepts so that they will be well-informed consumers of goods and services. The courses included bookkeeping, consumer education, economics and law, typing, shorthand, and secretarial and office practice. This year students used special dictation tapes to build higher speeds in shorthand; during the first semester, a television classroom program was part of the economics and law classes.

A CHALLENGE FOR THE MIND AND HANDS

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

To educate boys in shop procedure is the purpose of Industrial Arts, under the direction of Mr. Daniel Shea and Mr. Otto Winkvist. Through information, observation, and a study of working conditions in the wood and metal shops, boys who had elected this course developed insights in and appreciations for industrial intelligence and understanding. The knowledge acquired of tools, machines, and correct methods of construction provided valuable training for future vocational work. Inspired and challenged to find satisfaction in making objects with their hands, the boys constructed projects including bookshelves, end tables, and coffee tables.

Efficiency in cutting wood accurately is achieved only after much practice, as Robert Doucette, Ronald Stetson, Richard Cassola, and James Stevens know.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Approximately two hundred students at Beverly High School took advantage of the Driver Education program, with Mr. Daniel Shea as classroom advisor and he and Mr. Lawrence Steedman as on-the-road instructors. The aims of this extracurricular course were to equip students with a fundamental knowledge of their car and a basic comprehension of the rules of the road. These goals were fulfilled through the extensive use of films, text books, pamphlets, and lectures. Upon completing thirty hours of classroom work and six hours of actual driving, participating students were eligible for reduced insurance rates.

MRS. HELEN WILLMOTT, Librarian

LIBRARY

As the population of Beverly High School increased, the library also increased in size and value. Co-operating with the Beverly Public Library, our school library was an invaluable source of material for research papers, as well as a supplement for daily classwork. This year many new books were added to the library, while magazine and newspaper subscriptions also expanded the library's resources. Mrs. Helen Willmott, the school librarian, instructed sophomore students in the use of the library and provided valuable assistance as students searched for information to supplement their education. In addition, senior girls serving as library aids provided assistance by doing clerical work at the desk. The library also provided a place to display various exhibits prepared by outside organizations, students, and the library staff itself.

An integral part of student life at Beverly High School is the guidance department, under the supervision of Mr. Frank C. Root, Director of Guidance. Every student met with an assigned counselor and found help in solving academic and social problems. Students consulted the bulletin board in the guidance office for employment opportunities and pursued the abundant literature concerning colleges and careers. Every kind of assistance was available from the various guidance counselors, Miss Doris Boyd, Dean of Women, Miss Rose Brancato, Mrs. Helena Corbett, and Mr. Ralph Lizio. Additional help was provided by student guidance aids and by Mrs. Ida Nicolo, clerical worker.

The Science Department of B.H.S., continuing to grow with school enrollment, necessitated the formation of three new classes and the addition of a new chemistry teacher, Mrs. Karen Levin. The B.H.S. science curriculum offered courses in biology, physiology and physical science for the non-college student as well as biology, chemistry and physics for the college-bound student. The laboratories were again open to the classes and additional work and encouragement were available for interested students. Extracurricular scientific activities included the Radiation Biology Club under Mr. Phillip Kendrick and the Physics Reading Club under Mr. Anton Kishon.

MATHEMATICS

Aiding students in their search for mathematical knowledge was the purpose of the Mathematics Department at Beverly High School. The courses offered by the department were algebra, geometry, general and advanced mathematics and trigonometry. In addition to regular classes, interested and skilled students, under the direction of the members of the department, participated in the Mathematics League which competed with other teams in the North Shore area. A fair was again held this year at which projects submitted by students were judged. These activities helped to develop the students' interest in mathematics and approach to logic.

Courses offered in French, German, Spanish, and Latin in the Foreign Language Department at Beverly High School served to develop the student's ability to speak, understand, read and write a foreign language. Facilities of the department included a reading room and a language laboratory. The language reading room, located in a library conference room, contained foreign language reading material to aid students in their study of a foreign country, language and literature. The language laboratory, helpful in preparing for College Boards, was used extensively by advanced students to improve their listening comprehension. L. BEVERLY TRADE HIGH SCHOOL

In preparation for gainful employment immediately following graduation, interested boys have attended the Beverly Trade High School, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Brucchi. They received instructions in shop and related subjects, alternated weekly with academic studies. The program in which they participated consisted of productive work in shop classes and courses in English, history, citizenship, and economics, hygiene, and related subjects in trade drawing, mathematics, science and trade topics. The boys were trained to be skilled workers in various fields including cabinetmaking, auto mechanics, machinery, carpentry, patternmaking, printing and sheet metal. During their stay at Beverly Trade High School, participating boys received individual attention in a well-planned, useful curriculum in preparation for future occupations.

ACTIVITIES

THE BEVERLEGA

One of the most important aspects of any high school is its yearbook. We at Beverly High School have the Beverlega under the guidance and supervision of Miss Isabel Harriman. The student members, chosen selectively by Miss Harriman on the basis of scholastic merit and recommendations, were divided into committees under the student leadership of Martha Cole and the respective committee chairmen. The photography committee under Nancy Whitmore supervised the taking of pictures; the copy committee under Candace MacArthur and faculty advisor, Miss Suzanne Bentley, wrote and proofread all written material, and the lay-out committee, headed by Eileen Brodsky, organized the dummy and copy sheets which became the finished yearbook. Art illustrations for the divider pages were designed by Betty Allen. Working with the various committees was the Beverlega business staff, divided into three basic sections — the typing committee supervised by Miss Constance Turlo, the subscription committee headed by Miss Evelyn Ricciardi, and the advertising committee led by Miss Margaret Miner. The Beverlega was the end result of the combination of hard work and much time put in by these staffs and their faculty advisors.

tegral part of the high school, the activities of the band this year were extended to include monthly appearances before the student body. Also, several Band and Baton Squad members voluntarily gave performances at local old age homes and hospitals. These activities, supplemented by participation in the Memorial Day Parade, definitely made the Beverly High School Band an organization giving pleasure not only to the high school, but to the entire city of Beverly.

CHEERLEADERS

"The Lively Ones" was an appropriate title for the B.H.S. Cheerleaders and Baton Squad. Their enthusiasm and good sportsmanship, through victory and defeat, were contagious as they led the student body in cheering for the football, basketball, and cross country teams. This year's squad was led by Carolyn Brown and advised by Miss Ann Farley.

BATON SQUAD

Under the leadership of Betty Stevens, the Baton Squad twirled and danced its way through another season. They accompanied the band in many of its projects, including football half-times, parades, and benefits. Through these demonstrations they made the Baton Squad an organization for the entire city of Beverly.

Before every home game Baton Squad members lead the band to the football field.

Under the student leadership of the council president, David Vitale, the council undertook its annual tasks of conducting the first football dance, selling the school book covers and organizing the Spring Prom. The representatives, divided into committees, discussed the possibility of developing new regulations for home room elections, the adoption of school dress rules, and the formation of a constitution for the new Beverly High School. BEVERLY HIGH SCHOOL'S literary magazine, The AEGIS, was co-directed for the first-half of the school year by Mr. Edward Watts and Mrs. Helana Corbett. Miss Frances Twowt, who was on a sabbatical, assumed the responsibilities of the magazine for the second half of the year. The AEGIS was under the student leadership of its Editor-in-Chief, Roger Cohen; Assistant Editor, Charlotte Frost; and Secretary, Lonna Broudo. The magazine, which was published four times a year, gave the staff and the student body an opportunity to see their creative work in print. The staff, in addition to the actual writing, assumed the responsibilities of editing, managing and publishing the magazine. The AEGIS Literary Staff, assisted by the Business Staff, also undertook the writing and production of the annual AEGIS assembly. AT B.H.S.

Through the untiring efforts of Mr. Nicholas E. Tawa and Mr. Lawrence Drouin, our enthusiastic music directors, substitute choral director, Mr. James E. Cunningham, and the overwhelming response of the student body, this fall marked the beginning of a smaller, select group known as the Choraleers, which supplemented the flourishing Beverlaire Chorus. The orchestra, composed of qualified instrumentalists, came into its own this year, participating frequently in monthly concerts, together with the Beverlaire and Choraleers—with Music Night as the climax. Open to all serious-minded students, with or without experience, musical activities have again become prominent.

THE FIRE EXTINGUISHER SQUAD

The Fire Extinguisher Squad, under the direction of Mr. Harland Carter, has completed another year in the practice of fire prevention. The members, personally chosen by Mr. Carter as a safety measure for the school, were trained in the prevention of small fires and always prepared to assist in a major fire. Terry Erwin and David Vitale were elected by the student members to lead the club.

The Audio-Visual Aids Club, active since the arrival of the first movie projector at Beverly High School, functioned not only as a club, but as a vital part of the daily school routine. Under the guidance of Mr. Lee L. Jameson, eligible sophomores, juniors, and seniors, without restriction to girls or boys, were instructed in the operation and care of record players, movie and slide projectors, and tape recorders. Teachers frequently requested their assistance in classroom programs, and the club members were also at work behind the scenes during our assemblies.

The Distributive Education Club, under the direction of Mr. Edward Deep, has had another rewarding year as the participants strived to attain better business and social aspects for the future years. The members of the Senior Merchandising group comprise the club. Although all of the club's meetings were held in school, the major activities centered around banking, field trips, scholastic aid, and other business functions. Throughout the year dues were collected to finance activities at the end of the school year.

CHEERS AND CHALLENGES

GIRLS' INTRAMURAL CLUB

The leadership of Betty Peterson, Mary Blair, Brenda Payson and Linda Cloran, together with student representatives—Lois Trembly, Donna Erickson, Sally Norris, Elly Williamson, Lynn Hanlon, and Judy Palm—composed the nucleus of the Girls' Intramural Club, popularly known as G.I.C. Under the direction of Miss Anne L. Farley, the girls of Beverly High participated in a variety of competitive sports ranging from bowling in local alleys, field hockey, tennis, and softball to volleyball and basketball in the gym. Sophomores, juniors, and Seniors alike enjoyed the opportunities offered to them through G.I.C.

DRAMATIC CLUB

At B.H.S., interested students may learn about the theater by joining the Dramatic Club. Besides the normal procedure of learning backstage skills and giving impromptu skits, the club had guest speakers and dramatic films. Usually, the Dramatic Club presents a Drama Night for the entertainment of students and Beverly residents, but it was not possible this year due to the departure of Miss Catherine Hanf, advisor.

Miss Sandra Johnson, the present advisor, and the club's 35 members presented a film to interested people in order to raise funds for next year's club. Leading the members in the fund raising project were the officers: Lauraina Hill, President; Susan Galot, Vice-President; Jody Fuller, Treasurer; and Janet Burrow, Secretary.

On January 24 the annual talent show was presented to the student body. Faculty advisor was Mr. Lawrence Drouin, and Master of Ceremonies D. Vitale introduced the acts.

Talent displayed included: vocals by K. Lewis, L. Balliotis, J. Carnevale, M. Travsky and D. Richards; the "Sauerkrauters" with S. Roundy, P. Tannebring, and K. Doane; the "Ladybugs" with S. Wales, N. Quinlin, S. Dooling, and K. Goodron; an accordion selection by P. Pilonski; a piano piece by W. Nicol; organ music by P. Bona; a comical take-off on TV commercials by R. GERMAN CLUB

Under the supervision of Mrs. Lila Hennessey, the German Club has grown considerably since its start two years ago. The present officers are William Nicol, president; William Horne, vice-president; William Garrison, secretary; and Wayne McGuire, treasurer.

The German enthusiasts met the first and third Mondays of each month after the regular school day. A business meeting was followed by a program prepared by two different members each week.

The main purpose of the club's activities—to increase the student's appreciation, culturally and socially, of the German language—was achieved through the presentation of informal skits, tapes, use of popular German reading material, and a lecture by a German exchange student. Highlight of the curriculum was a field trip to Tivoli, the German festival sponsored by Boston University.

FOOTBALL

The 1963 Beverly High School football team finished seventh in the state. Although this is not as high as in previous years, it is a commendable record for our injury-ridden ball club. Throughout the season, the top scorers were Terry Erwin with twelve touchdowns, Dave Tomeo with four touchdowns, and Dave Wilkins with three touchdowns. The leading pass receivers were Peter Johnson, Dave Tomeo, and Tom Lemire.

Again the Beverly High School football squad was coached by Mr. Roy Norden assisted by Mr. John Lapsley and Mr. George Accomando. These men and the football team combined their efforts with physicians and teachers to give Beverly a team to be proud of.

"Best B.H.S. team we've ever had." With these words Coach Hammond summed up the Indoor Track Team's record. The sixty-boy team won every match and set more records than in any previous year. They then proceeded to win the North Shore League Championship for only the second time in our school history. The team now has a record of eighteen straight wins.

CROSS COUNTRY

Through the coaching of Mr. Frederick Hammond and the leadership of Co-captains Joseph DiAngelo and Jeffrey Lunn, the cross country team completed its fourth consecutive undefeated season with a record total of thirty-five straight dual meet wins. Sparked to victory, Robert Norris placed first in the Essex County meet, with Marshall Stanton coming in second. The State meet saw Robert Norris finish second, while he scored fourth at the New England Meet. Our cross country team has a record to be proud of this season—eight wins and no losses, third place in both the Class A State meet and the Catholic Memorial Invitation meet, and first place in the Essex County Conference.

HOCKEY

The 1964 B.H.S. hockey team, with a record of 3 wins, 10 losses, and 1 tie, did not have a very successful season. However, the four seniors on the team—Kevin Burke, Daniel Kelleher, David Osborne, and Captain Dave Cicchetti—were considered outstanding players by Coach George Kinnally. Nine out of the thirteen players will be returning to the hockey line-up next season, enhancing Beverly's chances for an improved record.

Balance was the key to the 1964 basketball team. Having lost all of last year's starters, Beverly faced a hard fight in a league dominated by veterans. However, four competent boys were found in the choice of G. Eckmann, B. Reid, G. Morrison, and B. Dow as starters.

The boys, working together as a team, experienced an excellent reward of eleven wins and five losses. Each member proved valuable and outstanding in his field.

JUNIOR CLASS

The Class of 1965 has contributed talent and energy in making B.H.S. a school to be proud of. Beginning our sophomore year with curiosity, anxiety, and excitement, we gradually adjusted to the pattern of school life.

As juniors we distinguished ourselves in school activities. Class leaders were Richard Wallace, Peter Johnson, Gail Shepard, Susan Swan, and Joseph Forti. Many of us were members of BEVERLEGA, AEGIS, the Math Team, Choraleers, and Beverlares. David Tomeo, Glenn Townsend, Robert Norris, Marshall Stanton, Steve Davison, and James Gilligan ranked among the outstanding athletes. Planning for college and careers became increasingly important as the year progressed. Now we were ready to accept the role of leadership from the graduating class, as we looked forward to our Senior Year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Now that June is here, we, the class of 1966, take time to reflect upon our first year. While furthering our knowledge in such by stubborn combination locks, confusing one-way stairways, and ignorance of the rules of the school, we have adapted to the unfamiliar surroundings.

Our time has been well-spent in our first year. While furthering our knowledge in such fields as biology, mathematics, languages, and business education, we attained commendable goals in scholarship. At the same time, members of our class participated in and supported extracurricular activities including sports, assemblies, the talent show, student council, and clubs. Under the guidance of our class officers and executive board, we conducted a class dance for the benefit of the entire student body.

Having completed a rewarding sophomore year, we are eagerly anticipating the challenge of the future and our next two years at B.H.S.

THE SENIOR CLASS ADVISORS

Mr. Robert Michel and Miss Constance Turlo, the Senior Class Advisors, played an important part in the success of the Senior Class. Their main duties were to help in arrangements for the class functions and to help complete the final arrangements for graduation. Throughout the year they advised the Senior Executive Board on necessary decisions. Through new measures such as a raise in class dues they guided the class over many rough spots. Without their valuable assistance, the Senior Class would not and could not have completed such a rewarding year.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The Senior Class Officers—Joseph DiAngelo, president; Keith Overberg, vice-president; Barbara Homan, secretary; Gail Homan, treasurer—were probably the four students most responsible for the accomplishments of the Senior Class. In working with the class advisors, they organized such activities as the class dances and the Senior Class Play, and were greatly responsible for the smooth completion of arrangements for graduation. With the Senior Executive Board, the Student Council, and the Senior Class Advisors, they made necessary decisions throughout the year and suggested new measures to overcome difficulties.
